FRESH GROUND FLOUR MAKES ALL THE DIFFERENCE

EATING AT HOME MORE? For lots of reasons, we are all eating at home more these days. And, we are looking for QUALITY AND VALUE when we do our grocery shopping. Ever wonder why Great Harvest bread tastes so great? It starts with a very special type of Montana High Plains grain called Hard Red Spring Wheat. Moisture affects a wheat's protein content. The arid climate of the High Plains produces wheat with a higher protein content. At Great Harvest, we grind Spring Wheat kernels fresh every day to make our whole wheat flour. When we say "whole wheat" we mean it! We keep all three parts of the wheat kernel: the endosperm, the bran & the wheat germ. All flour starts to lose its nutritional content soon after grinding, so we use our flour within 48 hours. We then bake it to seal in freshness. This is why Great Harvest bread has SUPERIOR NUTRITIONAL QUALITY. And, ounce for ounce, you can't beat the VALUE!
